

ICCHS Work in Progress Research Seminar

Wednesday 5 February 2014, 1-2pm

Room 1.06, 18 Windsor Terrace

Everyone welcome!

Topic: Cultural heritage protection

Speakers: Peter Lewis and Peter Stone.

Peter Stone: 'Progress in the UK's commitment to cultural property protection in armed conflict.'

Peter Stone has been working on the protection of cultural property in the event of armed conflict since 2003 when he was the archaeological advisor to the UK MoD with respect to the invasion of Iraq. This presentation will briefly revisit activity between 2003-2012 and then concentrate on recent developments.

Peter Lewis: 'Research findings from the CARE of Rock Art Project.'

Peter Lewis works as a specialist project manager within the community development and the cultural sector. He is currently a Research Assistant on the 'Heritage and Science: Working in the CARE of Rock Art' project, a collaboration between Newcastle University and Queen's University Belfast. In this presentation Peter will provide an overview of the project and an update on the production of the CARE of Rock Art Toolkit.
